

FREE FLOWS THE WINE     Lyrics and music © Jack Williams

You're over the fear of rejection,
You found out you're really all right.
You're shinin' your shoes 'cause you know
You'll see her tonight

You borrow the car from your brother.
You burn up the telephone line.
At last you are certain you'll show her a very good time.

CHORUS

Free flows the wine.
Free flows the wine.
Free flows the wine,
High flies the dove,
What a feeling to love
And to be loved.

The woman says money means nothing.
She gives you the keys to her laugh.
You know not to question good fortune
that falls on your path.

That night you look down on the city.
You can see that you're worth more than one.
And two is the elegant number when Love's just begun.

CHORUS

You wait till your planet stops spinnin'.
You can't believe love is so kind.
You wipe all the tears from the eyes
That were always so blind.

And out where your mother lies buried,
You're wishing that she could have known
All of the love that can flow from a heart
Made of stone.
