

WHEN YOU'RE GONE

Lyrics and music © Jack Williams

Birds will sing, tears will fall,
The sun will shine and that ain't all
Everything will go on when you're gone

Flowers grow, tides will rise,
The Northern Lights dance up in the skies
Everything will go on when you're gone

CHORUS

Lightning strikes, thunder rolls,
Rivers shatter, lava flows
Everything will go on when you're gone

Rocks are hard, so is love
And hard to make as the stars above
Everything will go on when you're gone

Dandelions, dragonflies
Sweet rain from southern skies
Everything will go on when you're gone

BRIDGE

Take the pleasure and the pain
When you're gone the winds of change
Will howl and never call your name
When you're gone

It's 2005, you're dead and cold
The world's still turnin' and your widow's got your gold
Everything will go on when you're gone

The speed of light won't slow down
And if it does, you won't be around
Everything will go on when you're gone
